Hampden County 4-H Service Club Plans Fund Drive

The Hampden County 4-H Service Club has announced plans of a Fund Raising Drive that started March 15.

The organization, made up of young members scattered throughout the Hampden County is operating from their headquarters at the Hampden County Improvement League in West Springfield. The group is well organized and run by a youthful staff of officers.

President is Nicholas Demko of 1186 Main St., Agawam. He is a sophomore at AIC and has been with the 4-H Service Club for the past 5 years with a total of 9 years in the entire 4-H program.

The fund raising program will be directed by James Melbourne of East Longmeadow.

The club is aware that most fund raising campaigns involve the selling of candies, cookies, peanuts, peanut-brittle and other such products to the public over and over but their approach is to offer the public a much needed safety item for the home. They will be selling small handy size aerosol fire extinguishers. The small non-toxic Spraylon chemical spray extinguishers, available through a regional distributor, are extremely effective in combating small fires of all types.

The people that are approached are urged to support this effort as the group carries on their meaningful programs. The profits from the sales will be used to fulfill their much needed goals.

ACQUISITION

A young stenographer, unmarried, caused a number of raised eyebrows at the office one day when she began passing out candy tied with blue ribbons.

"Say, what's the occasion?" one of her fellow workers finally asked.

"It's a boy," the steno announced proudly, displaying a small diamond on her left hand. "He is six feet tall and weighs 178 lbs."

Good News

One of the more pleasant events of last year occurred with hardly a ripple in the U.S. press—other than the usual news service reports. The voters of the small South American country of Uruguay rejected by a four to one margin the adoption of revolutionary socialism of the kind previously approved by the voters of Chile.

Chile adopted by popular referendum a communist system—a system that is now busily engaged in expropriating property and abrogating contracts with foreign investors that had poured hundreds of million of dollars into the Chilean nation building up its economy and industries. So far, it appears that Uruguay has avoided the trap into which Chile has fallen and from which the chances are slim that it will ever extricate itself by the process of free elections.

Grassroots Opinions

TERRE HAUTE, IND., SPECTATOR: "We're only about HALF as honest as we used to be. Recently, the editors of Liberty magazine conducted a test similar to one run nearly a half century ago. The results were quite illuminating...and embarrassing for the current generation." Back in 1924, Liberty sent out 100 letters to people selected at random across the country, explaining that a dollar bill enclosed was 'in adjustment of the error you complained of in your account,' which of course, did not exist. Of the 100 people contacted, 27 returned the dollar, announcing that a mistake had been made, which was in marked contrast to the results in 1971. In this year's test, only 13 of 100 people returned the money."

BRUNSWICK, GA., THE GLYNN REPORTER: "Mr. President! Let's freeze government too! If you truly intend to control inflation, start with government! No salary increases for department heads! No new agencies or departments! Abolish overlapping or duplicating agencies or departments! Or is your program really just a phony, political device?"

BELTON, TEXAS, JOURNAL AND BELL COUNTY DEMOCRAT: "The government has all sorts of publications and bulletins telling us how to run our businesses and be financial successes. You may not think this is funny, but coming from the government I think it is hilarious. The government's operation depends on deficit financing, but we individuals have limitations imposed by bankers and creditors."

WHITTIER, CALIF., REVIEW: "At last it's come, a complete assembly-line built home. A 12-foot steel beam rolls from station to station picking up pre-built components. No more do workers go to the houses to work, the houses come to the mechanical devices taking the place of the former artisan. Next step will be to computerize the family moving in; press a button and the machines will designate who is to be the new owner. Wouldn't Jules Verne have a field day with that?"

HIGH POINT, N. C., ENTERPRISE: "A worker in the Illinois revenue office stumbled across some boxes containing 3,400 tax returns with checks worth $2 million. They had been shunted into a corner during last April's tax rush and forgotten. Thirty-four hundred taxpayers had to suffer unjustly as they were accused of tax delinquency."

UNDERWOOD, N. D., NEWS: "It has been said that some students drink at the fountain of knowledge. Others limit themselves to gargling."

Postmaster Robert DeForge wishes to inform Agawam residents that a limited supply of State and Federal forms are still available in the Post Office lobby.

CONSUMER REPORT

BILL WOULD BAN HAZARDOUS TOYS

(Attorney General Robert H. Quinn prepares this weekly column to inform Massachusetts residents of the state consumer laws.)

Highly flammable stuffed dolls and easily-opened baby rattles filled with rusty spikes are among the dangerous toys that can be bought by unsuspecting shoppers.

My Consumer Protection Division has received an increasing number of complaints from distraught parents who have purchased these and other seemingly innocent toys.

Because the Federal Food and Drug Administration may only ban toys which are sold in more than one state, I have filed a bill which will empower the Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Health to remove hazardous products made and sold in the Commonwealth from the market.

INADEQUATE LABELLING

This bill also empowers the Commissioner of Public Health to require adequate cautionary labelling. Toys sold with inadequate tags or instructions may harm unknowing children. For example, instructions on play ovens and irons often do not state that the toys heat to a high temperature and cause burns.

Although many of the most obviously dangerous toys have been removed from the market, investigators from the division have found that there are numbers of toys with hazardous aspects still being sold. Certain toys have been constructed from materials which can cut and scratch—for instance, doll dishes and furniture made of glass or brittle plastic that shatter and splinter.

REMOVAL PROCEDURE

The proposed hazardous substances bill would establish a procedure for manufacturers and dealers to make refunds to consumers who purchase inadequately labelled or banned toys. It also gives the director of public health and his inspectors the power of access and entry with a warrant to search the premises of an establishment selling harmful toys.

Under the bill, penalties for violation of the law carry a maximum penalty of a $3000 fine or one year imprisonment or both.

Of course not all playthings can be 100 per cent safe. However, this bill will ensure that all extremely hazardous toys are banned and that the potentially harmful ones are adequately labelled.

It will also guarantee that public officials have the authority to protect the residents of the Commonwealth from unnecessary harm caused by dangerous toys.

Dear Sirs:

The incidence of dog bites happening in town has been on the increase steadily since the month of December. During that month we had one dog bite case, in January there were seven cases.

It is quite evident, that there is little or no compliance with the leash law which was enacted in 1968. Beside the increase in dog bite cases, it is readily noticeable that dog owners are disregarding the law, by the increase number of dogs, loose on the streets and traveling in packs throughout town.

Because of these increasing dog bites and dog packs, this office has asked the town dog warden, Mrs. C. Campbell, to issue summonses to owners of dogs involved in dog bites, where it is shown that the owner was in violation of the leash law. She has also been asked to increase the picking up of dogs found loose throughout town.

Local Students Japanese Poster Contest Winners

Exciting news awaited three local students in the elementary schools on their return from mid-winter vacation. Principals received the news of the winners from the office of the American Humane Education Society in Boston, who sponsor the contest in conjunction with the S.P.C.A.

In September of 1971, the prize winning posters from the Annual Be Kind To Animals Poster Contest entered by pupils in grades four, five, and six were exchanged ed with schools in Japan. Again judged, they won in Japan too!

Each winning entry was awarded a silver colored circular pin with a red, white and blue design showing the heads of two dogs. In addition, a 11" x 15" certificate written in Japanese was given. The translation on the reverse side reads:

Presented to (Name of child). By Skidzue Katoh, chairman of the Japan Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

For the very good poster you made and participated in this year's "Be Kind To Animals Week" Poster Contest in Japan.

Second Prize—Claudia Hillbig—Robinson Park School.

Batteries Last Longer

Science and technology are working to provide new and better batteries, according to Dr. Alvin J. Salkind, director of Technology, ESB, Inc., Philadelphia, Pa.

Citing today's automobile battery as an example, he said the average life is 41 months compared with 26 months in 1962 and 18 months in 1950. He attributed this gain to improved materials and better design.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By BILL CHIBA

Stripers Unlimited a Service Club for Striper Fishermen has grown to the point they have set up their own hatchery on the Nanticoke River in Maryland. The information gleaned from their 1971 yearbook relates the further work of the transplant program.

When the high mortality of eggs and no survival of fry were noted, the University of Rhode Island was contacted and analyzed an egg case and discovered a high incidence of DDT.

One of the main reasons for the hatchery is to be able to investigate first hand the effect pollution is having on the strip bass and try to acquaint the Federal and State Agencies with the results so that steps can be taken to save this important fishery.

Subsequent investigation during the summer indicated an alarming concentration of DDT and PCB's (poly chlorinated biphenols) in the striped bass mesenteric tissue. P.C.B.'s are used in heat transfer systems, electrical transformers, tires, flame retardant paints, and as plasticizers. This material, although chemically similar to DDT, is considered more toxic to eggs than pesticides.

Both P.C.B.'s and pesticides concentrate in the fat tissue of fish. The highest concentrations are usually found in mesenteric adipose tissue, riperoe, and milt. In the sampling done by Stripers Unlimited, concentration exceeding those that caused 100% mortality in lake trout fry and salmon eggs were found.

1972's work will dwell on developing correlation between the levels of DDT and PCB's in the brook stock to the mortality of eggs and fry.

Stripers Unlimited is a non-profit corporation that is dedicated to improving the striped bass habitat, monitoring for pollution, assisting in transplant work and raising funds for further work. I have to admire the work these dedicated people are carrying on. It involves saving a whole segment of our environment, a valuable food source, and perhaps a whole ecological system.

Garcia Offers Ecology Gift
The Garcia Corporation, celebrating their 25th anniversary in fishing tackle this year, has announced the launching of a national fish stocking program. Special arrangements have been made with the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners to proportionately allocate to the various states funds received from the Garcia Co. for this purpose.

Anyone can join in Garcia's efforts. Here's how it's done. A consumer purchases a Mitchell 410 or Mitchell 386 spinning reel, or an Abu-Matic 280 spin casting reel, or a Mitchell 754 fly reel. He then sends to the Garcia Ecology Department the guarantee registration card and the panel from the reel box showing the reel's serial number. Garcia, in turn will then put a pair of gamefish into a lake or stream in his designated state.

A handsome certificate, suitable for framing will be sent to the consumer in with any name he designates, attesting to his contribution to the ecology of his state.
